Release Date: June 21, 2002

(SAN PEDRO, CA) – The Harbor Commission will hold a public hearing regarding the issuance of two separate coastal development permits at its meeting on Wednesday, June 26, 2002 at 8:30 a.m.

The first coastal development permit being considered involves plans by ExxonMobil Corporation to relocate and remove cross-channel petroleum pipelines at the Port of Los Angeles to accommodate a channel deepening project. These pipelines currently span the East Basin Channel and the Main Channel

The second coastal development permit being considered involves plans by the Port of Los Angeles to construct the remaining 200 feet of a 1,200-foot-long wharf and create 1.3 acres of landfill behind the wharf at a new container terminal that is under development at Berth 100 in the West Basin.

The meeting will be held in the Board Meeting Room in the Port's Administration Building located at 425 South Palos Verdes Street, San Pedro.

Written comments may be submitted no later than June 25, 2002, to the Director of Planning and Research, 425 South Palos Verdes Street, San Pedro, CA 90731. Copies of the staff report and recommendations relative to the issuance of a coastal development permit for the proposed project are available for inspection at the address listed above.
