PORT EMPLOYEE PHOTO CONTEST WINNERS ANNOUNCED Images Featured in 2006 Calendar

SAN PEDRO, Calif. – The 2006 Port of Los Angeles Calendar is a scenic tour around Los Angeles harbor, with perspective provided by winners of the Port's Employee Photo Contest. Of the more than 125 entries submitted by Port of Los Angeles employees, six were chosen for the calendar.

The Grand Prize was awarded to Adrienne Fedrick of the Port's Engineering Division, for a view from the top of a container-loading crane. Fedrick, a Los Angeles resident, has two photos in the calendar, winning a separate prize for her photo of the Mexican tall ship Cuauhtémoc as it sailed into Port during TallShips®LA.

Prizes were also awarded to Laurie Strong, Wharfingers Division, of San Pedro, for her photo of a tugboat at dusk; Manuel Ramirez, Risk Management Division, of Los Angeles, for his shot of Cabrillo Marina at sunrise; and Christine Saunders, Planning and Research Division, of Anaheim Hills, who also won two prizes – one for a photo of the Vincent Thomas Bridge, and another of a vessel emptying its ballast water.

Contest judges were South Bay promoter and publisher Jack Baric, local art curator Robin Hinchliffe, and local prize-winning photographer Frank Rodriguez.

The Port distributes calendars to its domestic and international customers and to the community through chambers of commerce, neighborhood councils and other organizations. Single copies of the 2006 Port of Los Angeles Calendar are available at the Port Administration Building, 425 S. Palos Verdes Street, San Pedro, during regular business hours, while supplies last.

The Port of Los Angeles is America's premier port. As the leading container port in the nation and a critical hub in the international supply chain, the Port generates thousands of stable jobs and billions of dollars in annual wages and tax revenues. The Port of Los Angeles also places a high priority on responsible growth initiatives combined with high security, environmental stewardship and community outreach. The Port of Los Angeles is a proprietary, self-supported department of the City of Los Angeles. The Port of Los Angeles. . . Anchoring a bright future.
